Hope for End to By-Partisan Bitterness

Washington, July 19 — (AP)—House members, tempers frayed by partisan bitterness, today hoped for the end of their long battle over wage, price, rent and other economic controls.

Administration leaders were hopeful of getting down to final voting tonight on a much-amended bill which they have won some tentative victories, suffered some defeats.

One of these came yesterday when the house voted to ban all price controls which would not allow a "reasonable profit." It finally enacted into law this might mean a total of the thousands of dollars of price stabilization OPA, to take into account cost-plus-profit data on all farm and industrial products.

Rep. Michael V. DiSalle, D-Ill., said the action was "the most damaging blow to price control" thus far taken. He called it a "cost-plus-guaranteed-profit-on-every-item" plan.

Speaking in support of the amendment, Rep. William R. Hatch, R-Mo., asked the house: "What is wrong with profits? How do you expect to get the production we need to beat inflation without reasonable profits?"

Republicans and Democrats alike were conscious of the political implications contained in their decisions on wages and prices. Party leaders made no bones of their hopes that the cited in the control fight will sharply define the fundamental party differences on which political victory may hinge in 1952.

House leaders counted on the possibility of as many as a dozen or more roll call votes on many amendments — with many more required to answer "yes" or "no." As a result, the house may find itself spending up to ten hours tomorrow in a series of roll calls which will reverse or sustain the tentative unrecorded actions thus far taken.

Still to be decided — probably today — were proposed changes in rent and credit controls. These were the principal remaining controversies in the house consideration of a new controls bill to succeed the defense production act, it expires July 31.

Yesterday's setback for the administration came when farm state members led a fight to push through two amendments which would the price ceilings to profits on both agricultural and manufactured goods.

But administration supporters, with the aid of some Republicans, succeeded in turning back a drive to shoot the wage stabilization board of its disputes-settlement powers and limit its advisory policy-making functions.

The price amendments would:

1. Provide that no mean ceilings may be established which do not

WILD WEST CHARITY STANDISH BY CHARLES JUDAH

CHARITY STANDISH decided she really was becoming abandoned, fighting, kissing strange men and not a bit repentant either.

"I'm sorry I did that just now, or no, I guess I'm not sorry, but it didn't mean anything, at least not much." She stopped confused. Ken grinned.

"I see. Maybe it's the altitude." When Charity was comfortably settled, gazing across the breathless moonlit loveliness of her valley, he stretched out beside her, and told his story as if it were printed in the sky with stars for letters. He did not tell her much about himself, but he did describe the life he lived. Tales of trade with the Pueblos to the north and the Navajos to the west and of Apache on both sides of the border. It was a life as free as the ranges of the Territory, as untroubled as its mountain meadows, as limitless as its deserts.

Charity looked behind her, to the east. The sun that she had watched disappear behind the mountains the previous evening was peering over the edge of the mesa.

"Will you loan me enough money to get home?" she asked.

"I don't loan money to strange women," he told her with mock severity, "but I do sometimes return stolen property. How much do you lose?"

"I only want enough for railroad fare, and it is a loan."

After a short argument they compromised. She would take the $440 she had lost, but the money would be paid back.

"I'll donate it to a home for fallen women," he threatened.

Charity grinned. "Considering how I've behaved tonight, I'll just consider it an investment."

He fished out $450 from a pocket and with it a pair of dice that he had forced out of Duke's clenched fist, following the fight.

"Take these, too, as souvenirs. You could do wonders with them in Ohio."

She smiled wryly. "I wouldn't say I did my last night."

"You did while you used those dice. Roll them."

She threw a seven. She repeated the cost a number of times. Always seven.

"See what I mean?"

"No, I don't see at all. These dice are obviously loaded. But I didn't take them to the Four Aces."

"Of course not. I did. Remember when I picked up the dice before you got real lucky?" Charity remembered. "Well, when I gave them back they weren't the same ones."

Charity continued to roll the dice thoughtfully. She was reminding herself that those dice and their owner had saved her from servitude at the Aztec. She should be grateful, and she was; but she was disappointed, too, and suddenly very tired. Too tired to choke back the words that welled up against her will from atavistic depths deep within her being.

"So you're a cheat—like Duke Rogers."

He was unperturbed. "I got to town last night—feeling good. I have a pal here. Doug Kent, best friend a man ever had."

"That's what he says about you," Charity interrupted.

"You know Doug? But sure you do. You and Angel were talking about him at the Four Aces. Swell guy, isn't he?"

"Go on," said Charity.

"I've owed Doug some money for a couple of years; I had it and figured I'd pay up and we would have a celebration. First place I looked was the Four Aces; heard Doug's name, so I listened. What I heard didn't make sense. Doug lost $5,000."

"Why doesn't it make sense?" Charity asked wryly. "He's a gambler, isn't he?"

"How well do you know Doug?" Charity poked absently at the dice on the ground. "Not very well, I guess."

"I didn't think so. It's this way. Doug's not a gambler. Think he is, but he's not. He's a farmer, who got out West. He ought to settle down and grow things."

Charity laughed mirthlessly. "Are you trying to tell me that Douglas Kent would be happier on a ranch than gambling?"

"Sure he would. He likes animals, has a way with them, too; and you ought to see him as I've seen him, when he comes unexpectedly to a field that's really green with some crop or other. He'll just look at it and then, gently, as if trying to convince himself, he'll curse it; but his eyes say more than his words. Trouble is he won't admit what's in his eyes. Something happened to him when he was a kid in Carolina. He never did tell me, naturally I didn't ask."

"Naturally I did ask and he told me," Charity said softly.

Ken looked at her out of eyes that turned hard and wary. "Maybe you're the girl." His voice was not friendly anymore. "As I was saying, Doug's not a real gambler. Win a little, lose a little was his way. But he kept out of debt. Said debt had ruined the South that it wasn't going to ruin him. So how did he lose that $5,000?"

"He was drunk," said Charity firmly.

"Sure. Funny, too, because Doug never drinks much, and not a drop when he gambles. Besides, he knows Duke's crooked."

"He played before at the Four Aces."

"Little stuff, yes. Duke's honest on that. Duke saves his tricks for big games, or strangers, or guests from the Aztec. Doug knew the Four Aces was all right for a small game. Besides, he thought he and Angel were good friends."

"How good?" Charity asked.

"Just good, though maybe she'd like it more."

"I guess she can have him now."

2. Immediately boost virtually all food prices at once.
3. Make practically impossible the administration of ceilings.

"At the same time the amendment would unnecessarily guarantee for manufacturers and processors excess profits substantially higher than the highest earnings ever recorded by American industry," DiSalle declared.

Republicans who supported the amendments have denied this. They say that inflation can't be beaten unless reasonable profits are assured.

DiSalle asserted that "there are world" to determine costs so that not enough accounts in the world" to determine costs so that every manufacturer would obtain a profit on every item he duces — as the amendment quires.

"The net result would be bury the entire price-control program in an impossible administrative morass and to place government stamp of approval on an immediate inflationary spiral," DiSalle said.

"And since it would require food prices be based upon even when lower prices are actually paid by processors, it would mean an unjustifiable windfall such processors at the expense consumers and farmers."

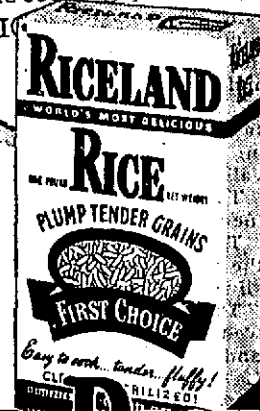

DiSalle's letter came at a time when house members, tired and frayed by partisan bitterness, in the end of their long battle over wage, price, rent and other economic controls.

Denounces Cost-Plus Amendment

Washington, July 19 — (AP)—Price Director Michael V. DiSalle told congress today that the "cost-plus-guaranteed profit" amendment accepted by the house today would "destroy the entire price-control program."

In a letter to Chairman Spence of the house banking committee, DiSalle said said yesterday's vote would:

Legality of Signatures Questioned

Little Rock, July 19 — (AP)—The part adopted by the 1951 general assembly which would "liberalize" state purchasing procedure may become the center of a new controversy.

The Arkansas Gazette said today that petitions circulated to get the act — 242 of 1951 — on the 1951 general election ballot contained the names of dead persons and non-residents and others "who are aware their signatures were forged."

In John L. Fletcher's daily column, the newspaper said nearly 50 persons had signed affidavits supporting the charges. The article said the violations of law were discovered by the office staff of State Purchasing Agent Carl Parker.

Soon after the general assembly adjourned its regular session, it was discovered that someone had altered the house voting record on an emergency clause for act 242. An emergency clause would have made it effective immediately, without the clause the effective

Highest Flood in Century Hits St. Louis

St. Louis, July 19 — (AP)—Main once again pitted ingenuity and sweat today against the treacherous Mississippi as the highest flood waters in more than a century rushed toward the Missouri river town.

Flood waters, with time still on their side, inched under a hot sun to a level of 100 feet to Cape Girardeau, 100 miles to the south, even as the crest hit Jefferson City, the state capital, in central Missouri.

The waters, which already have left an estimated $700,000,000 loss in their wake in Kansas and eastern Missouri, submerged some 30,000 acres of land.

Since then it had been further stayed by the referendum petitions until after a vote at the 1951 general election.

The administration of Governor McMath strongly supported the measure. Fletcher's article said administration supporters would ask the Arkansas Supreme court vote held the entire referendum effort.

Opposition to the measure has been led by John F. Wells, a Little Rock publisher of a government news digest.

First petitions filed for a popular vote came up short of the required number of signatures. New petitions to make up the deficit were filed yesterday and Tuesday.

Fletcher's story said three women had made affidavits that their husbands, who were listed as signers of the petitions had died before circulation of the petitions started.

Confidence that St. Louis could stave off major losses turned to fear as the crest of the mighty Missouri moved toward St. Louis and a junction with the Mississippi at about 30 miles a day.

Morton Meyer, president of the union, expressed fear that damage here might go as high as it did in the disastrous flood of 1947. If the Mississippi crests over the 40-foot level as predicted, damage in 1947 here was estimated at $9,000,000 and another $3,000,000 in the county.

The swollen Mississippi — it stood at 38.6 feet today and flood stage is 30 feet — already has damaged St. Louis river front industry.

St. Louis proper sits on high ground like a great open fan in an arc of the Mississippi. The city's water system which supplies the 1,500,000 population is believed safe. Water Commissioner Thomas J. Skinner said both of the city's plants should be able to weather much higher crests than predicted. They have been sandbagged for weeks.

Scott Air Force base had 1,312 volunteers on flood duty from St. Louis to Chester, Ill., about 50 miles south. They have been joined by farmers and city folk in the battle of the levees.

Army engineers patrolled the levees from nearby Alton, Ill., to Cape Girardeau. They feel confident the major ones will hold but they pointed out that the dikes have been under constant pressure of high water for several weeks.

The Syracuse National Basketball Association will play in Syracuse's $3,500,000 Onondaga County War Memorial next season.

Alliance With Spain May Get Approval

Washington, July 19 — (AP) — Influential senators today generally approved moves to bring Spain, Turkey and Greece into closer association with the North Atlantic defense alliance.

Reports that Spain has agreed in principle to establishment of U. S. naval and air bases there won applause from Democrats and Republicans.

However, the disclosure by British Foreign Secretary Herbert Morrison that Britain favors taking Turkey and Greece into the defense pact found a few lawmakers cautious about moving too quickly in that direction.

Senator Taft (R-Ohio) said he thinks it desirable for the U. S. to have the agreements Admiral Forrest P. Sherman, chief of naval operations, is reported to have made with Generalissimo Franco

The creed was repeated by the group followed by the song of the month, "Arkansas Traveler." Devotional was read by Mrs. L. K. Boyce, Sr. and prayer was given by Mrs. J. E. Delaney. Roll call was answered with "What I like most about club work."

During the business session old and new business was discussed. Plans were made for the club picnic in July. Mrs. L. K. Boyce, Sr. gave a report on foods and nutrition.

of Spain. But the Ohioan told a reporter he wants to learn more about what will be involved if Turkey and Greece are added to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization countries.

Senator Byrd (D-Va.) who opposed the original Greek Turkish aid program, observed that addition of the two countries to NATO would "enlarge the field of our responsibility abroad and make our aid programs most costly."

Senator Dirksen (R-Ill.) said he looks upon the British move as a "clear hint that we are going to encompass the Mediterranean in NATO defenses." All NATO members must agree before they may be admitted.

"This also would clearly take us closer to the Middle East and the present sore spot of Iran," Dirksen observed. "It certainly will increase the demand for military and economic aid funds."

Senator Wherry of Nebraska, the Republican floor leader, said Britain's gesture toward Turkey and Greece also would include Spain. Britain and France have opposed Spain's entry into NATO largely because of Franco's non-Somercatic government.

"If we had Spain in the setup, it would be the kind of European defense military leaders have been recommending," Wherry said. Chairman Russell (D-Ga.) of the senate armed services committee said the English proposal on Turkey and Greece ought to be followed up by other NATO members without delay.

Monroe Edges Pine Bluff in the 9th

By United Press

First place Monroe recovered from a four run ninth inning jolt by Pine Bluff last night to edge the Arkansas club 5 to 3 in 10 innings and hang on to its three game lead in the Cotton States League.

The win snapped a two game losing streak for the lenders. Runner-up Greenwood nipped at Pine Bluff in the final inning to come in with a 4 to 3 win and keep pace with Monroe.

In other games, Clarkdale stopped El Dorado 3 to 0 and Natchez whipped Hot Springs 9 to 3.

Monroe Pitcher Stewart held Pine Bluff scoreless for eight innings, but the Oilers drove him off the mound with a our run at-bat that tied things up in the ninth. In the 10th Monroe came back with the winning tally. Both clubs made seven hits and used two pitchers.

Greenwood built up a four run lead over Greenville but the Bucks kept pecking away at Pitcher Matlock. A ninth inning rally by Greenville was cut off one run short of a tie.

Lefty Tommy Graham of El Dorado tossed a three hit game at Clarkdale, but lost to a four hitter by Simmons as Clarkdale combined his hits with walks. The Plants scored twice in the first inning and added another in the fourth. El Dorado could not muster a scoring drive despite two Clarkdale errors.

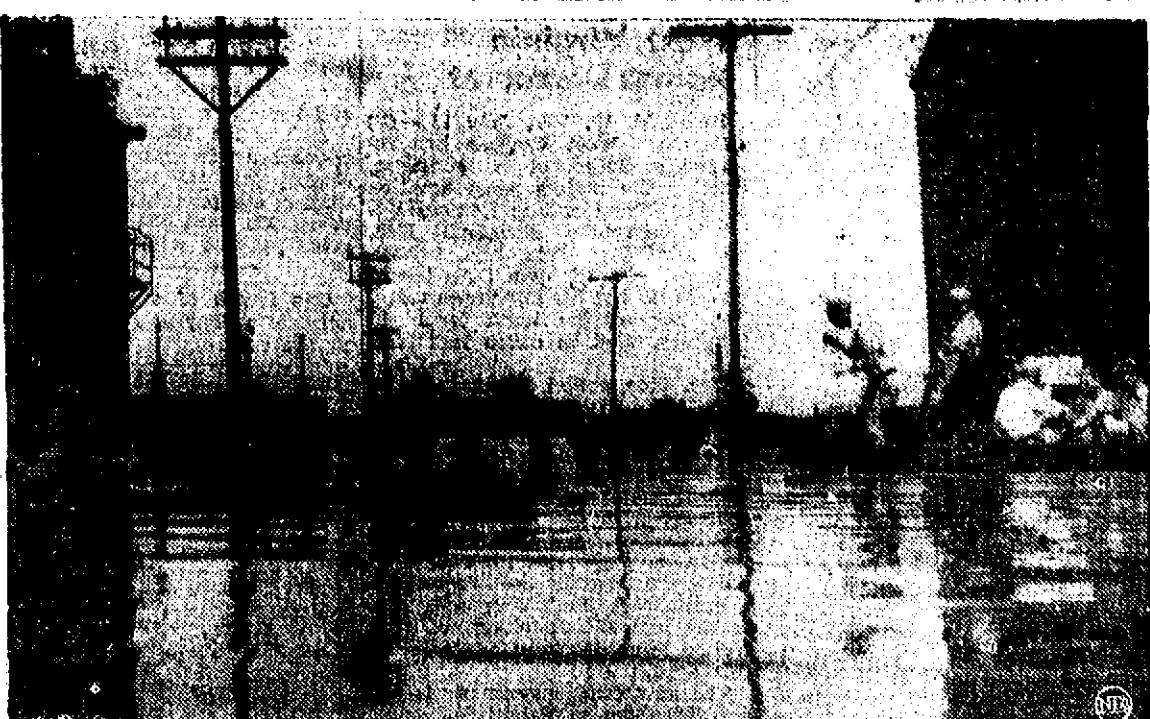

Natchez started off with five runs in the first inning and coasted to its wins over Hot Springs. Heuser scattered nine Hot Springs hits while three Bather homers yielded 1 Natchez safeties.

Walcott Had the Crowd All the Way

Pittsburgh, July 19 — (AP) — Jersey Joe Walcott was the man of the hour from the time he stepped into the ring against Ezzard Charles until he left amid shouts acclaiming him the new heavyweight champion of the world.

Walcott knew he was the sentiment — if not the betting choice. He grinned widely as he was introduced. Charles hardly cracked a smile when the applause came as he was introduced. Then, as the fight progressed, ringing cheers went up every time Walcott landed a punch. The cheers weren't so loud when Charles hit Walcott. When Charles was flattened the crowd let itself go.

INSPECTION PARTY — A rowboat party in St. Louis, Missouri inspects some of the damage along the river front. Estimated at $750,000, most of the flood cost has been in sandbagging manufacturing plants, moving stock from warehouses, and jacking up equipment. The Mississippi is predicted to crest at 40 feet by Saturday. (NEA Telephoto)

Move Starts to Help State Schools

Little Rock, July 19 —(AP)—A non-political, three-phase program designed to meet immediate financial needs of Arkansas' public schools has been launched by a group of business and professional leaders.

The group, some 50 persons in all, met here yesterday.

The representatives perfected preliminary organization of the Arkansas committee for the public schools. They elected Peter F. Watzek, president of Crossett Ark. Industries, temporary chairman. Miss Willie Lawson of Little Rock was named secretary. Unanimous approval was given to a reliable and trustworthy wife.

Answer: Far be it from me to condemn any woman to the extent of declaring she is beyond redemption on this earth, but you have sure picked yourself as feckless a piece of femininity as I have ever encountered. Any woman who has survived three divorces goes down in my book as a bad matrimonial risk for any steady male.

Dear Miss Dix: A girl who has always been my best friend seems to have suddenly gone crazy over my husband. She calls him pet names, puts her arms around him, jumps on his knee whenever he sits down and pretends that he is in love with her. He seems embarrassed. He has always been a good and faithful husband and I don't believe that he likes all of this carrying-on. What shall I do?

Answer: Show the woman the door and tell her it is hands off of your husband. She bodes you no good.

Dallas Office Delays Medical Program

Washington, July 18 — (AP) — Lack of word from its Dallas office is holding up public health service action on plans for a proposed University of Arkansas Medical center.

The proposed center would be built in Little Rock with federal aid under the Hill-Burton hospital construction program. Under this program, the federal government will pay about two thirds the total cost of such a center.

An agency spokesman said yesterday that because a project of this size would require funds beyond the period of construction — usually two to three years — it must be approved by the Washington office.

The spokesman said funds for the center will come out of an appropriation yet to be made for

War Has Made Strange Bedfellows

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, July 18 — (AP) — The war made strange bedfellows. The peace has made stranger ones.

The United States and Russia, wartime allies but enemies now, are warring their old enemies, not because they love them but because they need them against each other.

The United States and Russia both want to win over the Germans.

We beat the Russians into Japan and occupied it. The Russians did the next best thing for themselves: They indoctrinated Japanese prisoners and sent them back to their homeland to win it over.

Now after six years of occupying Japan we have drawn up a treaty of peace. It's to be signed in September and will go into effect some months later.

Nothing shows better than that the fiscal year which started July 1. Exact amount of the appropriation is uncertain.

The 1951 appropriation totaled $85,000,000, of which Arkansas received $2,131,000.

treaty the strange turn the peace-time years have taken.

Under U. S. persuasion the Japanese in 1947 adopted a new constitution in which they said they "forever renounce war" and they swore never to maintain armed forces again. It was an idea which seemed good at the time.

That was before this country's relations with Russia had grown desperate, before communists had taken over Japan's neighbors, China, which is side by side with Russia's Communist Siberia.

It was also before the Communist invasion of South Korea, a clear warning to the Japanese that the same might happen to them if and when we left, if they remained untrained.

It was also before this country decided it was vitally necessary to have a strong Japan off the Asian coast — one of America's first and most important in the Pacific.

The proposed treaty says nothing about Japan's agreement to the Japanese free to scrap that part of their constitution which outlawed war and to re-arm. They can make any military alliances they want.

Once the treaty goes into effect all foreign troops — meaning this country's — are supposed to clear out of Japan, although this country doesn't expect to get out. It expects to work out this kind of deal.

We'll get permission of the Japanese to keep military bases and forces in Japan. We'll no longer have any legal right to tell them what to do. But our troops will help defend Japan and we can work hand in glove while getting them re-trained.

This undoubtedly is all right with the Japanese since, if we withdrew altogether, they'd be a soft pushover for any Communist attack, unless, or until, they were able to arm themselves.

We'll still have strings on the Japanese. It seems sure.

The Japanese have to import everything needed to make the industry run. Having lost all their overseas possessions in the war, country and its allies for quite a while to supply them with materials for industry, which means materials for re-arming.

So by the amount of raw materials we supply them, we'll be able — for a while, at least — to control the amount of re-arming the Japanese can do.

But if the Japanese later begin making ties with the Communist countries, which are closer and can supply them the materials cheaper than we can, we'll have something to worry about. So no one can predict the future. Japan will remain a long-time problem for this country.

Reconciliation Hinted for Aly, Rita

New York, July 18 — (AP) — Rita Hayworth's lawyer hinted yesterday that a reconciliation between the actress and her Modern prince husband, Al Khan, was possible.

But it was just a hint. "There's an if to any possible patch-up of the broken marriage," said Rita's lawyer, Bartley Crum.

The if hinges around whether Aly meets an undefined "primary condition."

The condition, Crum said at a news conference, is "not financial. Neither does it involve Rita's place of residence."

And it does not affect Yasmin, the estranged couple's child.

Crum said Miss Hayworth saw no possibility of a resumption of the marriage "at this time," but he added:

"We have laid down one primary condition, however, which if met will bring about a prolonged delay in the filing of any divorce action by Miss Hayworth."

Crum parried all efforts by newsmen to learn the nature of the "condition."

But if the prince "responded favorably" to it "there would be the possibility of a reconciliation," he said.

Rita left the prince during an African safari and returned to New York April 2. Before the month was over she announced she would seek a separation.

Subsequently she established the necessary six weeks residence in Reno to obtain a divorce.

Also at yesterday's news conference was the prince's attorney, Charles Torem.

Negro Singer Makes Arrest

Los Angeles, July 18 — (AP) — A Dallas, Tex., salesman paid a $100 fine yesterday after Negro singer Josephine Baker arrested him on an accusation of making a slighting remark against her race.

The salesman, 45-year-old Frank Harlan, waived a jury trial and submitted his case to Municipal Judge Clifford Higgins on the arrest report, signed by Miss Baker.

She said that after her last performance at a downtown theater she was at the Biltmore hotel when Harlan, at the next table, announced: "I won't stay in the same room with niggers."

Police said they couldn't make an arrest because they did not hear the remark, but that she could make a citizen's arrest, which she did.

Harlan declined comment on the outcome. Miss Baker was not in court for the sentence but showed up later and told reporters: "I was not acting for myself in this. I did it for all people everywhere. I hope the hours he spent in jail will teach him that all people everywhere are entitled to equal justice."

May Produce Life of Gilda Gray

Hollywood, July 18 — (AP) — Gilda Gray, shimmy-shaking star of the Ziegfeld follies in the 1920s, is talking to a movie producer about a picture of her life.

"I want to make some more money," Miss Gray told reporters. "I'm 48 but I still weigh only 122. I'm making plans for a 10-weeks night club tour of the Pacific northwest."

Miss Gray, dogged by illness, spent four years on a Colorado ranch, and says she feels fine now.

"The public wants action today — and action I can give them," she said.

Comparing the roaring '20s with the '50s, she said: "They roar more today, but I think we had more fun."

West Virginia Names Democrat

Bluefield, W. Va., July 18 — (AP) — Southern West Virginia has returned a Democrat to congress, keeping the state's representation in Washington solidly Democratic.

Mrs. Maude Elizabeth Kew, widow of Rep. John Kew, yesterday was elected by a three-to-two vote to fill out his unexpired term.

Kew, serving his tenth term in congress, died in office last May 8.

Mrs. Kew polled 30,339 votes to 21,648 for Republican Cyrus H. Gadd, 49-year-old Princeton attorney, in 377 of the district's 384 polling places.

However, Republicans found consolation in the margin of her victory. Her husband usually polled a two-to-one majority in the predominantly Democratic fifth district. Both Kew and his widow had the backing of the United Mine Workers, powerful in this area.

The new congresswoman is 58 and has three grandchildren.

Boeing Delivers New Airplane

Washington, July 18 — (AP) — The Boeing Airplane company said today it has just delivered the first production airplane of a new multipurpose C-97 freighter series to the air force in Seattle.

The company said in a statement the 72-ton plane is the first production model designed to operate — with a changeover requiring only a few hours — as a tanker, troop transport, cargo carrier and hospital plane.

This is the ninth model in Boeing's line of 350-mile-an-hour speed. Boeing said the new craft, with tanker equipment removed, can carry 134 equipped troops or 70 litter patients with attendants.

New York, July 18—The southern states, patronized, ridiculed and exploited as political vassals by the party of Hiss, Frankfurter, Truman and Eleanor Roosevelt, find themselves awakening to a glorious patriotic political opportunity. The South is incomparably more "American" than the north and the contrast with the northeast, especially the industrial city of New York, is the more frightening. The cause represented by Senator Harry Byrd, of Virginia, has aroused rebellion in the hearts of Southern people who, for years fumbled in a confused state, unaware that they were being led and bribed into bondage under northern Communists and pre-Communist Socialists who had transformed their traditional Democratic party into a hideous anti-American force.

Senator Byrd's declaration of secession from the Truman party, delivered at the Jefferson-Jackson dinner in Atlanta, has echoed across the southern tier. The import of the speech has traveled slowly for this was too big a lesson to be learned at once. It is, in fact, a summation of the particulars of thousands of warnings uttered in this and other columns and political speeches since 1936 and of John T. Flynn's classic political paper "The Road Ahead" which proved that, excepting political differences, the British political disaster was the blueprint of the American Democratic action. This A. D. A. is no more American than any other version of Karl Marx and Lenin. It is the last step on this side of communism and it caught Harry Truman at the 1948 convention in Philadelphia where he agreed to be its candidate on the Democratic ticket. Hatred, hopelessness and endowed with the political cynicism of the old carpet-bagger, Truman was an ideal man for this small group of adventurers. The first act of his campaign was a summons to congress to meet in special session to be insulted in a snarling speech by a president who walked between silent hostile rows of a joint session.

Senator Byrd came before the minds of loyal citizens across the South and spoke of a new scourge of unprincipled northern radicals descending on them with pious platitudes and plotting to repeat the horrors of reconstruction in the name of "democracy." It was appropriate that he did this in Atlanta for here, again, the self-important, hypocritical native scoundrel had been footing the political treasures of the South in collaboration with the New Deal and Fair Deal and exploiting the Negro exactly as the carpet-bagger did before. Some of these may be honest fools, but those who used them were neither.

EX-WAR LORD DIES

Taipei, Formosa, July 18 — (AP) — Gen. Wan Fu-hsi, who in his heyday was one of the big three war lords of Manchuria, died in obscurity Monday at Taipei, Formosa. He was 71.

British Term Red Move as Calculated

London, July 18 — (AP) — Responsible British government officials today viewed new Communist talk of "traditional Russian-British friendship" as a coldly calculated move to wear Britain from the North Atlantic pact and split the Anglo-American alliance.

This was the opinion they expressed concerning Moscow's new English-language publication, "news," and the article in its first issue claiming in historical tradition of friendly relations between Russia and Britain.

The article, by Soviet historian Eugene Tard, said "There is no European power with whom Britain has fought less often than with Russia." Tard dismissed the Crimean war between Britain and Russia as "entirely unnecessary."

Observers here also viewed Tard's article as a bid for support of the Labor party's leftwing minority, led by former cabinet member Aneurin Bevan, which proclaims that Britain's rearmament program is needlessly expensive and expansive.

In this connection, British officials cited Tard's assertion that there is no "spot on the globe where the interests of the Soviet Union and Britain clash to such an extent" as to cause a war. "The last thing we are thinking of is an attack upon Britain or America or any of our neighbors," Tard declared.

The contention by Bevan's faction that Washington has far too much to say about British government policies also was echoed by Tard, who wrote:

"The British government of today demonstratively proclaims its readiness to take an active part in any attack the transatlantic power (the United States) may decide to launch against the Soviet Union, whenever it considers it opportune and convenient."

Both Sides Bargain in Good Faith

By HARRY FERGUSON
U. P. Foreign News Editor

The most important thing that has been accomplished so far in the Korean cease-fire negotiations is that each side now seems convinced the other is bargaining in good faith. It has taken several sessions of cautious sparring for the negotiators to reach that conclusion, and the reserve hasn't broken down entirely yet.

But things have reached the point where the U. N. officers and the Communists will pose for pictures at Kaesong. Reporters now joke on occasional smile on the face of the negotiators in contrast to the grim atmosphere of the early meetings.

The talks have proceeded slowly and it seems unlikely that they will be speeded up any time soon. The mechanics of conducting the meetings automatically slow them down. For one thing, there is a triple language barrier. Vice admiral C. Turner Joy, chief U. N. negotiator, will make a statement in English, for instance. It then must be translated into Chinese and Korean. Dispatches from Kaesong are more than one translation indicate that some times there are more than one translation. A misunderstanding over a word or a phrase could lead to a break that would invalidate the entire proceedings. This problem will become more acute when the time arrives to put something down in writing.

Millionaire Vanderbilt Is Now in Jail

New York, July 18 — (AP) — Millionaire Leftist Frederick Vanderbilt Field was back in jail today, for an indefinite stay.

But unlike his first trip behind bars earlier this month, the great great grandson of Commodore Cornelius Vanderbilt had company in the case of the "bail angels" for four fugitive convicted Red Communists.

Two of his fellow trustees for the civil rights congress bail fund — mystery writer Dashiell Hammett and W. Alphonsus Hunter — also languished in cells as involuntary guests of the federal government.

In addition, they had the company of 11 second-string Red leaders whose civil rights congress bail was revoked Monday.

For the Reds, the prospects of release were rosier. They could obtain their freedom as soon as they supplied bail acceptable to the government. They needed a total of $140,000 "untainted" bail money.

But for Field, Hammett and Hunter, their confinement on contempt of court sentences had indications of being extended. Their temporary bail, pending appeal, was canceled yesterday by federal appeals judges.

Cheif Judge Thomas W. Swain of the second U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals, said a full panel of judges would hear the case of the imprisoned trustees as soon as counsel can prepare briefs and be ready for argument.

The three trustees had been sentenced to jail for contempt by Federal Judge Sylvester J. Ryan after they refused to tell who contributed to the bail fund of the congress.

Field had been held on $10,000 bail pending appeal of his 90 day sentence. He returned to jail from his Winston on, summer home last night after Judge Swan reversed his previous bail order.

50 Per Cent Assessments, Is Policy Now

Little Rock, July 18 — (P) — Governor McMath has told the Arkansas public service commission to begin setting its goal of equalization of assessments at 50 per cent of value on all taxable property.

His statement is a reversal of policy set out two years ago by the state tax commission, which went out of existence July 1 with duties transferred to PSC.

The ATC two years ago announced it would try to get all property put on the books at 20 per cent value. McMath backed establishment of the ATC in 1949.

McMath said today that the PSC has informed him it is laying state tax structure.

This tax setup was criticized by the 1951 legislature.

Home Mortgage Hits New Peak

Washington, July 18 — (P) — The outstanding home mortgage debt in the nation reached $46,900,000 at the end of last year after an unbroken rise since 1944, the home loan bank board said today.

The board said that in 1950 home mortgage debt increased $7,800,000,000, which it called the biggest annual rise on record, nearly triple the average for 1933 through 1941 and double that of 1949.

Its study covered mortgages on one-to-four family non-farm homes, the board said.
